

NICHOLAS BOWENS

In the Workplace

Nicholas owns Right Connections, LLC, which provides property management services in St. Louis. Being the owner, Nicholas has full creative control and enjoys the autonomy of working anywhere in the world.

At Home

When not running his company or serving on our Board, Nicholas enjoys taking day trips, reading, basketball, and public speaking.

With CHMO

Nicholas, who was previously a resident at CHMO, decided that, once he overcame homelessness, he would make it his purpose to help raise awareness and play his part in getting youth off the streets. He felt he could make the biggest impact by serving on the Board of CHMO. He finds fulfillment in serving the youth and knowing that he is directly giving back to the organization that changed his life.
