

GERARD HEMPSTEAD BOARD CHAIR

In the Workplace

Gerard Hempstead enjoys helping people live their best lives and coaching them to become the best versions of themselves. That's just one of the reasons he loves his job as a Managing Partner with Northwestern Mutual St. Louis. He also gets to grow their office and develop their financial representatives. In Gerard's words, "Our firm has a goal of helping people achieve financial security."

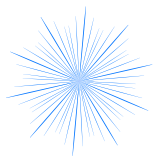

At Home

When he's not helping people with their financial security, you can find Gerard playing golf, watching St. Louis Blues games or using his Peloton. He also likes to take meaningful vacations with his family - they once went to Nicaragua on a mission trip to put wells and water lines into a village that has never had the simple blessing of running water. Gerard is also an active participant in Covenant House's annual Sleep Out event!

With CHMO

Gerard has been a supporter of Covenant House for many years and felt that his finance and development background would provide insight to the Board when making the best decisions for the organization and the youth it supports. Plus, serving on the Board allows him a first-hand opportunity to help our youth strengthen themselves as individuals, which in turn helps to strengthen our community.
